SMALL PAY FOR GREAT WORK.

In a popular play now touring the country, cutting satire is leveled at the way the public undervalues some of the best work done for the community. One character in this play is a scientist who has discovered some remedy that will save innumerable lives. It is represented that he is paid but a meager salary. The idea is conveyed that men like him are apt to fare very poorly at the hands of a world that distributes its rewards with little discrimination. The men who win the great rewards are not usually those who confer the greatest blessings. Teachers, college professors, physicians, ministers, social workers, those are some of the types of people apt to be paid for below their deserts. Many editors have earned a place in this category by long and unselfish service to the community and public cause.

It is a question worth study, as to who is to blame for this disproportion, and if there is any way to distribute the rewards of life more fairly. Of course if these services were paid at their full value to the world, selfish men would crowd into such callings, and lower quality of the work done. But it is not just that grand service should be appreciated only when obstacles are written. Such men should be given due recognition while they are fighting life's battles here with their fellowmen.

This discrepancy will never be wholly removed in this life. Men who have learned happiness that comes from rendering service to the world are not very keen about money. That is one reason why they don't earn more. They find their rewards in other ways. They would be glad enough to get money, but haven't time, and don't bother themselves much to concentrate their thought on the ways of obtaining it.

The Ohio State Journal issues a warning to the Republicans in the General Assembly and the Advisory committee that controls the legislature, not to make a party fight on Governor Cox's veto of the emergency taxation bill which would set aside the Smith one-cent law. It is stated further that the veto makes it mighty inconvenient for public extravagance but the people are going to like that. There is no question but that the Republicans with their nicely staged attack on the governor for vetoing the bill have put their heads in another noose and are "sawing things at night." The veto of the bill by the governor is applauded by the people generally and it is now plainly up to the legislature to settle the taxation question in a way that is fair to all classes of property in Ohio.

Former President Taft's reply to Senator Lodge's twofold comment order is an appeal for all Americans to stand by the president and to eliminate partisanship from the league.

ANTI-LYNCHING MOVEMENT.

A campaign has been undertaken by an anti-lynching conference held at New York city against this pernicious habit so dangerous to civilization. That this movement is no mere sectional affair is proved by the participation of many prominent Southerners. While owing to exceptionally difficult race problems at the South, some states in that section have been notable for these crimes, the lynching spirit is not confined to any one part of the country. It is likely to break loose anywhere.

Unthinking persons sometimes argue that lynchings usually dangerous criminals who get what they deserve. But the moment you encourage mob action, you promote the grossest forms of injustice. Many victims of lynching have undoubtedly been innocent. And the worst criminal is entitled to a fair trial. He will suffer just as much, in fact more, to have to face his fate while the process of law weaves the net about him.

When one group of men take the law into their own hands, it encourages others to do it for any reason that looks good to them. If one mob lynches a man for assault, others will lynch a man for theft, for taking some one's job, or for expressing contrary political opinions.

Were lynching to become common, all the boasted liberty of this country would be a farce. The criminals and the law breakers would be the real rulers, they would terrorize courts and legislatures and administrators. Life and property would not be safe. Peaceful and innocent men would have to submit to the rough and violent. Lynching leads the way to anarchy, and is an expression of belated spirit. It will injure any state or community that tolerates it.

Another quadrennial issue of the Republican party is just about to be eliminated. It is the full dinner pail to which we refer. With American business going ahead in such rapid strides that it is gradually and surely absorbing all of the surplus labor in the country, ere the next campaign rolls around every returned soldier and every individual man or woman, who wants to work, will have the opportunity and at good wages. So the cry of the full dinner pail which helped the Republican party to gather votes in the past may be successfully met by a concert of the working people of the country voicing the suggestion to "Let Well Enough Alone."

Former Governor Frank B. Willis is now to take the stump for the prohibition cause, paid out of anti-saloon league funds. With that we have no quarrel but the average dry Democrat is asking whether Willis is to be one of the army of speakers to be used by Republican chairman Will Hays to spread Republican doctrine in meetings held under other than political auspices.

Spirit of the Press

No Brutal Spoilation.
 Certainly no man can read the treaty and be in any doubt as to who lost the war. If Germany signs her capitulation will be complete. So far as our estimate of defeat goes, and of its consequences, it is hard to see how more could have been put on paper. Yet there is no brutal and purely punitive spoilation. Germany is not dismembered. She is left with no ranking wound, no just cause to resume the war. Marshal Foch fears that France is not sufficiently safeguarded. The agreement entered into by President Wilson and Lloyd George to ask their respective countries for power, subject to the approval of the council of the league of nations, to come immediately to the assistance of France in case of unprovoked attack by Germany, failed apparently to reassure the Marshal, and quite excusably, for it really promises little or nothing beyond living up to the "league" covenant. Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Help for the Russians.
 It would appear from a recent news item sent out from Omsk, the capital of Siberia that the Allies have not been entirely successful in extending help to the Russians who are fighting to free their land from the curse of Bolshevism. The general tone of the item is joyful, and it speaks of the optimism with which the matter for mobilization is being carried out. The one clear thought that has developed from the situation is, undoubtedly, the idea that the Russian must themselves solve their problem to the extent of our assisting a responsible government. That it will be possible to extend practical aid, however, Democrat and Union Post.

Mean.
 Who would that said, "Let I have this war, I am not for any more," said Mrs. Gable.
 "You are a mean beggar," said the man.

IN BLOOD DISEASES

Like Scrofula, Eczema, and Many Skin Troubles.
 As well as a general skin medicine for eczema, scrofula, and other blood diseases, Resinol is of great value in many other conditions. It does its work through its action on the blood, by cleansing the blood of its impurities, and thus removing the cause of the skin troubles. It is a blood purifier, and it is equally effective in the treatment of blood diseases, such as eczema, scrofula, and other skin troubles. It is a blood purifier, and it is equally effective in the treatment of blood diseases, such as eczema, scrofula, and other skin troubles.

Silver and Gold.
 "The doctor is silver and gold," he prides himself on this," said Holden.
 "But still, no matter how strong 'silver' and 'gold' he ought to know as golden!"

Blind to His Individuality.
 Aunt Caline says, "I went over to Bitts last night to see a special show. I having went to bed at first, I think I noticed when I went in was blind. I had a setting by the table a reading with the best of it. I went to bed at first, I think I noticed when I went in was blind. I had a setting by the table a reading with the best of it.

Two of Them.
 Jack Frost has gained a community. This like old Kaiser is his path is strewn with death and he seems to delight in it.
 —Newark Advocate.

Would Probably Have to Be.
 We see the film tonight at the Auditorium is to be "Victims of the Night" and we suppose it is highly imaginative.

Making Things Efficient.
 Of course it is not yet known whether the post-office would be made efficient if it was run as a private enterprise. Cleveland Plain Dealer.
 Now do we hear any others from anyone to run Mr. Harrison as a private enterprise?

Honorable and Dear Sir:

I have been asked by the Joint Commander of the Salvation Army to address a word to you as the National Chairman of the Campaign about to be launched in behalf of the above named organization. While I am happy to do, and for the reason that along with my fellow-American citizens, I rejoice in the splendid service which the Salvation Army rendered our Soldier and Sailor Boys during the war. Every returning soldier is a willing witness to the efficient and generous work of the Salvation Army both at the front, and in the camps at home. I am also the more happy to commend this organization because it is free from sectarian bias. The man in need of help is the object of their effort, with never a question of his creed or color. I trust therefore, your efforts to raise $13,000,000 for the Salvation Army, will meet with a hearty response from our generous American public.

Faithfully yours,
(Signed) J. CARD, GIBBONS.

OHIO FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

Ohio Forgets Crippled Totals.
Do you remember that the eighty-second Ohio general assembly appropriated $90,000 for a crippled children's home? The home was never built on account of the war, and friends of Ohio's crippled children, among them thousands of Ohio club women, have endeavored a fight for the reappropriation of the $90,000 fund with which to erect such an institution. The money is still in the state treasury, but unless the general assembly reappropriates it before July 1, the fund will die. Early in the present session a delegation of crippled children appeared before the house finance committee and appealed for the money for a home. The committee promised them to put the $90,000 in the appropriation bill. Then the chairman of the house finance committee, Representative King, gave his word to State Auditor Donahue that the money would be reappropriated. But so far the crippled children have been forgotten.

"It's not a matter to forget," friends of the crippled children say. "The legislature has provided $125,000 for a governor's mansion and $125,000 for slaughtered cattle, and certainly the finance committee can not afford to forget Ohio's crippled children."

Social Hygiene.
Mrs. Woodallen Chapman, No. 220 West Forty-second street, New York City, chairman of the social hygiene committee, of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, sends to Ohio's club women a message of opportunity—for work along social hygiene lines and how it can be made most effective.

For Future Generations.
"The war was fought for future generations. We are living with this war effort to fortify these coming generations to be able to cope with the war problems that are not ours to solve but theirs." So declares Mrs. W. H. Sawyer of Columbus, president of the Ohio branch of the National Congress of Mothers and the Parent-Teachers' association. How much good the "Back-to-School" drive showed us! The army draft revealed countless physical troubles that proper childhood care might have almost eliminated. The insight of the National Congress of Mothers and the Parent-Teachers' association in a child's welfare extends from the babe deserving to be well born on up through to these grown-up boys and girls in the service of their country.

The Ideals of American.
Every club program for the coming year should provide opportunity for its members to become better acquainted with the provisions of the constitution. The National Security League stands ready to provide free helpful literature, advice, suggestions and the services of its speaker's bureau.

Helpful literature or references on these subjects will be sent on request by addressing: E. Leighton, civic chairman of the National Security League, No. 19 West Forty-fourth street, New York City. Bronzing Small Articles.
Small articles may be gilded by immersing them in the following solution, which must be used at nearly boiling heat: Canalic potash, 190 parts; carbonate of potash, 20 parts; cyanide of potassium, 9 parts; water, 1,000 parts. Rather more than one and one-half parts chloride of gold should be dissolved in the water when the other substances are to be added, and the whole boiled together. This mixture is often employed by dealers in cheap jewelry.

America's Largest Industry.
The United States' largest manufacturing industry is iron and steel. The pig iron recovered in smelting from ore amounts to about 25 per cent of the raw materials. The equivalent of about 14 per cent is driven off by volatilization in the cooking of the coal; in the process of smelting a further 40 per cent escapes in gas, fumes and dust, and the remaining 21 per cent represents the slag.

Failures.
When a man lacks principal he naturally falls from lack of interest.

A five-cent light may be turned for a popular general and still belong to the rank and file.

RELIEF FROM CRAMPS AND INDIGESTION

People who knew Mrs. H. M. Kuhn, of South Webster, Ohio, as she was when suffering from severe spasms of indigestion, can hardly believe that so quick a relief could be possible. However, her statement herewith can leave no doubt as to the efficacy of the treatment she followed. She says:

"For two years I suffered with a most severe case of indigestion and constipation. I was often laid up in bed for from three to four days at a time, and suffered severely with pain in the stomach. I gained no relief until I tried Dr. Parker's Treatment for Indigestion and Constipation. I have cured me. I am in better health than ever."

Dr. Parker says: "I am more than ever convinced that no case of stomach trouble is too severe to be quickly relieved, as was Mrs. Kuhn. So sure am I that I will, personally, guarantee the return of your dollar, if the first package of my Treatment does not bring you relief."—Advertisement.
